From deposition to trial, learn how to make mobile apps work for you in our CLE and NFPA approved webinar.

Scheduling Apps. From booking depositions to client intake meetings, we will look at the best and most organized calendaring and scheduling apps offered.

Note Taking Apps. A variety of apps make the iPad ideal for note taking. These apps enable audio, handwritten and photographic notes that are searchable and shareable.

Research Apps. Access expansive law libraries, legal compendiums, and even integrate citation analysis tools as you conduct research on the go.

At-the-Depo Apps. These apps allow you to view, mark and search realtime streaming produced at the deposition by court reporters on your tablet.

Document Review Apps. Search, highlight, mark up, manage, sign, annotate, download and run reports on transcripts and exhibits from anywhere at any time.

Remote Desktop Apps. Connect to your entire office or home desktop and gain access to your files, programs and email.

Document Storage/ Sharing Apps. There are times you will need to transfer documents on or off your tablet or share them with others. We'll explore many apps that make this a breeze.

Trial Apps. With pizazz and power, electronic tablets can be effective tools for presenting at trial. Create animated 3D charts and unique presentation transitions.
